Report on Inter-disciplinary Talk on Understanding Graphic Narratives

An Inter-disciplinary Talk on “Understanding Graphic Narratives” was organized on September 2025 in Room 2 for the students of the 5th semester. The session was conducted by Ms. Suchismita Sarma, Guest Faculty from the Department of BBA and B.Com.

The talk aimed at introducing students to the evolving field of graphic literature. It provided valuable insights into the concept of graphic narratives, highlighting how visual art and textual elements are combined to create engaging and meaningful storytelling. The speaker discussed the growing popularity of graphic literature in contemporary times, particularly among younger readers, and emphasized its relevance in both academic and creative domains.

The session also explored the future scope of graphic narratives, pointing out their potential applications in education, media, and publishing industries. The interactive nature of the talk encouraged students to engage with the subject and broaden their understanding of alternative forms of communication.
